2. During the opening comments [redacted] suggested that the above standards should be made applicable to all "intelligence" information. Several of the members advised that there is a clearly defined line between SCI and other information but there is no feasible way to separate "intelligence information" from non intelligence information. [redacted] suggested that the word "minimum" be dropped from the standards. [redacted] advised that his Agency would like to see the standards retained as "minimum standards". [redacted] suggested that this matter be looked at in detail as he had been advised of several instances where contractors had commented about various Intelligence Community agencies using different standards for the storage and handling of SCI information which generally resulted in increased cost by the contractor.

3. The first 6 pages of the standards were reviewed and changes were suggested by members of the working group. The attached is a revised draft with these comments and suggestions incorporated.
